

I'm Out
by Kai van der Meer

Then the snow fell deeply whiting out the details parking street signs shops garden yards and walks-all unlocked and lost.

The sun then shone along it setting, the endless meadow of wind brown grass of snow, lighting golden roads to wild, and I never came home.