

In a Dream
by Neal Hammond

Last night in a dream –

Rather in a vision, within a dream.

An open casket – beside an open grave.

Otis Redding was there.

Just out of sight – to my right.

Raising his arms he said,

"Neal, ya'll gotta let your imagination soar."

And a thousand white doves rose

Into a cobalt blue sky.