

Ode to a Shirt
by Rob O'Flanagan

You will come back around,
I said to the shirt in the closet.

You will come back.

And when you do,
I will part the sea
of oversized suits
and fill you up with my form once more,
if you are still able to hold me.